Bio

Despite being born fifteen years after the band broke up, Aaron Krerowicz worked as a full-time independent professional Beatles scholar from June 2015 through August 2018. He has authored six books about The Beatles, and delivered more than 500 presentations throughout the US, England, and Canada. For more information, visit his website: AaronKrerowicz.com.

Testimonials

“It took guts for Aaron Krerowicz to come to Liverpool with his theories on the Beatles, but the audience was completely attentive and asked many pertinent questions. A very good speaker and a master at multimedia presentations!”

Spencer Leigh of Liverpool, England and host of BBC Merseyside Radio show On The Beat

"I was very impressed with your knowledge, and the fact that your presentation could reach fans at all levels of knowledge and interest."

Christopher, from Connecticut

"Too bad my college professors were not as talented as you in presenting!"

Judy, from Kansas

“Aaron was very knowledgeable about the subject and had clearly done extensive research. It was a lecture, but the audience didn't feel they were being lectured. He used many good visuals and sound clips to add interest and depth to his presentation. Aaron has a passion for his subject which is evident during his presentations. It was very enjoyable.”

Nancy, from Illinois

Program Repertoire

Each program description includes an “Analytic Rating” between 1 and 4 (with 1 being easiest to understand and 4 being most difficult to follow) to illustrate accessibility:

Before They Were Fab: The Beatles Prior to Beatlemania

Before the number one records and the deafening screams, before Ed Sullivan and “She loves you, yeah, yeah, yeah”, before the shaggy “mop top” haircuts and collarless suits, there were six future Beatles. This 90-minute multimedia presentation will trace the early history of The Beatles from John Lennon's founding of The Quarrymen in 1957, through their five seminal Hamburg residencies, and right up to the precipice of worldwide fame and fortune.

From the Shadow of JFK: The Rise of Beatlemania in America

Many Beatles authors have cited John F. Kennedy's assassination on 22 November 1963 as a cause of the Beatles' sudden popularity in the United States in early 1964. Their logic: Kennedy's assassination made America sad, then the Beatles made America happy again. But this commonly accepted answer is overly simplistic. America has suffered numerous tragedies and rebounded each time, but the popularity and staying power of the Beatles remains unmatched in American history. The real answer is that Kennedy's life and death inadvertently primed the nation for the Beatles' arrival and success. This 60-minute multimedia program explains how and why.

Though legend cites Civil War hero Abner Doubleday as "The Father of Baseball", historical evidence clearly indicates otherwise. This 60-minute presentation traces the origins and early development of America's national pastime.

Shadow Ball: A History of The Negro Leagues

When Jackie Robinson broke the color barrier in Major League Baseball on 15 April 1947, it marked one of the sport's greatest historical moments. But it also served as the beginning of the end for the Negro Leagues. This 60-minute multimedia presentation follows the rise and fall of Negro League baseball.

Naked Eye Astronomy

Many people think that cities are poor locations to star gaze, but the brightest stars can be seen from just about anywhere - you don't need binoculars or a telescope (though you can bring them if you'd like) to appreciate astronomy. This 60-minute course covers the major stars and constellations of the spring [summer/autumn/winter] months. The first 45 minutes will be held inside, where we will observe and discuss star charts, while the last 15 minutes will be spent outside (weather permitting) to view the real thing.

Beginning Piano

This single-session hands-on piano seminar, designed for people who have little or no piano experience but have always wanted to try, will cover the rudiments of piano playing: note names, simple musical notation, and a few chords. By the end of the class, participants will be able to play basic songs with both hands. A variety of keyboards will be provided, but students may bring their own instruments, too. Materials fee of $10 due to instructor at start of class, which pays for a textbook which students keep.
